

Delta County Reporter.

ISSUED TWICE A WEEK

THIRTY FIFTH YEAR--NO. 69.

And THE GLADSTONE DELTA
GLADSTONE, MICH., MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 25, 1920

MONDAYS AND THURSDAYS

25c PER MONTH

ROY DENIO SHOT IN STOMACH BY BOY COMPANION

GLADSTONE YOUTH LIES IN SOO HOSPITAL AFTER AN ESCAPADE.

Reported and seriously injured, Roy Denio, 16-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Denio of this city, lies in a Sault Ste. Marie hospital as the result of a runaway escapade.

Young Denio was shot through the stomach last Friday morning about 10 o'clock while in company with Delmas Kerr, 13 and Lawrence Burr, about the same age, both being boys from this city. Just what happened has not yet been made clear and two stories of the affair was related by the boys.

The Denio boy disappeared from his home here last week. Later, it was learned, he jumped a train here with Kerr and Burr and went to the Soo. One of the boys had a .22 rifle but its ownership has not been determined.

This shooting follows an escapade by Kerr, Burr and a boy named Serby Smith, who a week previously had been out on an expedition, during which Smith told of himself and Kerr having robbed the residence of Stone Anderson at Ensign, at which time they secured a .32 caliber revolver, which Smith later turned over to chief of Police Danielson. Smith then remained in this city and Kerr and Burr later looked up with Denio.

As nearly as can be learned now, the three boys got off a train in the outskirts of the Soo. Then something happened. Whether it was an accident, whether it was a struggle for possession of the gun, or whether one of the other boys shot Denio, has not been made clear.

At any rate, Denio was shot and was taken to the hospital while Kerr and Burr were taken into custody by the police and later turned over to Sheriff O'Dess and brought back to Escanaba.

When first placed under arrest the Kerr and Burr boys claimed Denio had been shot in the groin some unseasonable hunter. They claim they had seen no one. It developed, however, that while being taken to the hospital in the ambulance, young Denio received a hunting license in his person and "lost" it on the road. The license was found later. After much persuasion, young Kerr agreed to show the police where the rifle was hidden. It was found that the stock had been broken off and the story was then told that one boy was holding it while another was trying to fasten the barrel on the stock. Then it was when the accidental discharge of the gun is claimed to have sent a bullet through Denio's stomach.

Mr. Denio went to the Soo Saturday and had a long talk with his father. He was too ill to talk much but expressed his deep regret that affairs had turned out as they had and it is likely that the true story regarding the accident will be known some few days when Denio gets to talking. Meanwhile Sheriff O'Dess will "await" young Kerr, who has been in a great deal of trouble here lately.

Hard Coal Situation Still Occasions Much Anxiety in This City

Another cargo of 8,000 tons of soft coal arrived at this port on the Mary C. Elphicke, Friday and was discharged at the Soo Line docks. This puts Gladstone in pretty fair shape so far as soft coal is concerned but there is still much anxiety in many quarters relative to the hard coal supply. Steps are now in formation to do something out of the ordinary to bring in a cargo of hard coal before navigation closes, unless such a cargo should arrive with in the current week.

ROAD COMMISSIONER E. J. NOREUS TAKES THE OATH OF OFFICE

E. J. Noreus, recently appointed County Road Commissioner by the board of supervisors, has taken the oath of office from Clerk A. J. Pepin, and will assume the duties of the office, January 1st.

Mr. Noreus' appointment comes as a nice tribute to his own personal worth as well as a fitting recognition of the fact that Gladstone is an important factor in Delta county affairs. With a local man on the board it is felt that Gladstone interests will receive the attention which many persons desire and Mr. Noreus will be found always boosting for the interests of this end of the county.

DELMAS KERR ADMITS BREAKING BOX CAR TO STEAL RUBBER SHIPMENT

Chief of Police Danielson went to Escanaba today to have a heart to heart talk with Delmas Kerr, the Gladstone boy held there in connection with the shooting of Roy Denio. The boy was suspected of having been implicated in the loss of a shipment of rubbers from a box car on Oct. 19. The box had been taken into the woods, unopened and when it was found that the rubbers were of a small size, they were cut with a knife and thrown away.

Young Kerr admitted to Chief Danielson that he did the job, assisted by Serby Smith of this city, another young man who has been in more or less trouble recently. The Smith boy was taken to Escanaba and placed in custody of the juvenile officer and will be questioned further tomorrow.

At the same time, a Gladstone girl who had been taken in charge by the officials managed to elude her temporary keepers and is at large. It is felt that she will not return to Gladstone. She, too, has been causing the police much trouble recently.

INSTRUCTION BALLOTS RECEIVED HERE TODAY

A large number of instruction ballots for the November election were received by the city clerk today and will be distributed in accordance with the rules for that purpose. The clerk also received a number of absentee voters' ballots which will be sent out on request of those who are entitled to them.

Deputy Clerk Otto Habermas is busy arranging the ballots in such size packages as to best facilitate their distribution about the city and there will be no excuse for any one making a mistake in the casting of his vote this fall.

LEGION TEAM TO PLAY MUNISING HERE ON SUNDAY

LOCAL LINE STRENGTHENED BY ADDITION OF SOME OLD HIGH SCHOOL TALENT

Arrangements were completed today for the first American Legion football game of the season on the local grounds. Munising has been signed up to appear here next Sunday, Oct. 31. Munising was beaten Sunday by Marquette 14 to 6 and is touted as being one of the strongest teams in the upper peninsula. The team represents the Munising Country Club and is composed of a beefy bunch of players who have been making a fine showing this season.

The local line is being strengthened by the addition of several former high school players who have remained out of the legion line up because their former schools or less with the necessary practice, but they have now consented to take part and a very different team is expected to make its appearance for the locals next Sunday.

It is expected that a big crowd will turn out for this first game at home by the legion men. The results of the game so far the local post and inasmuch as they need the money badly because of the heavy expense incurred in putting on an elaborate Armistice Day celebration, all lovers of football are urged to attend.

Some rare sport is promised and the locals have promised they will redeem themselves for the loss of the Menominee game a week ago.

Further action was taken last week also regarding the securing of boating license for this winter. Commander Burton went to Escanaba and held a conference with Floyd Rowe, a member of the State Boating Commission and is greatly encouraged by what Mr. Rowe told him. The matter is now being taken up with Dr. Miller, of Cabinet, who has charge of this district and this, in connection with letters received from Tom Blazer, it is thought insures the granting of a license without delay.

Boost For Waterway Is Doelle's Advice To Teachers Of U.P.

It isn't necessary for Cloverlanders to look elsewhere for opportunities. John A. Doelle, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau told delegates to the annual convention of up-state teachers at Escanaba.

Cloverland's agricultural and mineral resources and its timber industry were described by Mr. Doelle as "Acres of Diamonds" and he pleaded with teachers to aid their pupils in grasping the opportunities that lie in their home territory.

He predicted that the copper industry in Michigan would "come back" when the operators of the mines made possible by the new materials to be made into a finished product near the mines. He also called attention to the use to which products which hitherto have been considered waste, are being put in the industry.

He urged teachers to keep the advantages of the proposed deep waterway through the St. Lawrence river constantly in mind. "The waterway is coming," he declared. "No city, or state is big enough to block it. It means too much to the great continent."

LOCALS BEATEN AT MANISTIQUE

OPPOSITION OUTWEIGHS THE GLADSTONE HIGH TEAM BY BIG MARGIN.

Deftened 55 to 0, still full of fight, Gladstone High's football team returned from Manistique Saturday night more firmly determined to repair the weak spots and to build up strength for the next clash. A crowd of approximately 150 fans went to Manistique with the team and this, incidentally, was about the number of Manistique fans who were present on their own lot. Wherefore, Gladstone feels that even though they did not show superiority in skill and tactics, she at least broke a little better than 50-50 on the matter of loyalty to the respective home teams.

Although the locals were outwitted they put up a fine battle. Manistique may have had them outplayed but they were not outgamed and cheered on by the loyal bunch of Gladstone rooters whose raucous yells split the air at every favorable opportunity, the boys hit the opposition line with a vim and vigor which only superior weight stopped.

Most of Manistique's gains were made against the opposition being somewhat weak in aerial work but strong on the line play.

Nothing occurred to mar the pleasant relations dictated by good sportsmanship, except the removal of the Manistique quarterback during the latter part of the game. Through excess of enthusiasm, he began using his fists and was taken out immediately.

The locals have only words of appreciation for the splendid treatment accorded them and assure Manistique that when that organization appears here, they will be greeted with typical Gladstone hospitality and courtesy.

DEER SEASON OPENING IS EAGERLY AWAITED

Local sportsmen already are getting "set" for the opening of the deer season Nov. 15 and the city clerk has received a number of inquiries regarding the law this year. The season is short, extending from Nov. 15 to Nov. 25 inclusive.

The first license issued in this city so far, went to Desire Bonno who was granted his right to knock down the biggest buck roaming the woods--if the buck is willing.

Small Fire Damages The Home of Cap Fisher

A small fire occurred at the home of "Cap" Fisher on Tenth street Friday evening about 5 o'clock. The blaze started on a back porch and ate its way into the roof, thence entering the rear part of the residence. Chemicals were used but before the fire had been conquered about $200 damage was done. Considerable damage was done by smoke.

Police Sergeant Joe Carney was over Escanaba today in connection with another bold robbery in that city Sunday night. As had been done on a previous occasion about a month ago, one of the large windows of the Delta Hardware Company had been smashed in and three rifles stolen. The boldness of the job has put the Escanaba officers on their mettle. As there was some slight evidence in connection with the former robbery, it was found in Gladstone, it was thought that something might be learned here today. However, nothing of a tangible character was picked up here and the robbery is as great a mystery as ever.

Fraternal Reserve To Give Halloween Dance On Thursday Evening

One of the most enjoyable dances ever given by the Fraternal Reserve Association of this city, is anticipated Thursday evening when the spirit of Halloween will pervade the activities of this group of fraternal workers. Wassa hall is to be appropriately decorated for the occasion and as it is a matter of pride with this organization to have each event outdo its predecessor, something out of the ordinary may be looked for.

GLADSTONE HANDLING INCREASED AMOUNT OF PARCEL POST BUSINESS

Postmaster Frank Miller has completed a parcel post count in this city which may have some influence on the putting on of an additional carrier. The count covered a period of 15 days and it shows that Gladstone is transacting a much greater volume of parcel post business than the majority of towns of this size.

The total number of parcels mailed from the local office during the period covered by the count was 2,225, while 1,665 parcels were received. Of this number 517 were delivered by carrier, and 852 put in boxes, delivered through the windows or went out by rural carrier for delivery.

Mr. Miller considers it a very fine showing.

SEWER WORK IS GOING ALONG RAPIDLY ON THE SUPERIOR AVENUE JOB

Work is progressing rapidly in the Superior avenue sewer workmen laid across Ninth street their way toward Tenth and barring accidents, the job is going to be completed in record time. The fine weather permits rapid progress and Contractor Nebel is working all the men he can handle.

The sewer extends from Eighth to Twelfth street and down Eighth to Delta avenue where it connects with the main sewer. When completed this will give relief to the Marble Arms and Marble Card plants which have long been handicapped by lack of adequate sewerage facilities.

DELTA HARDWARE CO WINDOWS SMASHED IN AND RIFLES STOLEN

Police Sergeant Joe Carney was over Escanaba today in connection with another bold robbery in that city Sunday night. As had been done on a previous occasion about a month ago, one of the large windows of the Delta Hardware Company had been smashed in and three rifles stolen. The boldness of the job has put the Escanaba officers on their mettle. As there was some slight evidence in connection with the former robbery, it was found in Gladstone, it was thought that something might be learned here today. However, nothing of a tangible character was picked up here and the robbery is as great a mystery as ever.

Despite efforts of the Escanaba police the window smashing goes on, merchants lost their merchandise and the police are baffled by the bold operators.

SUPT. WILLMAN HONORED BY U.P. EDUCATORS BODY

LOCAL MAN IS MADE PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION IN FIFTEEN COUNTIES

A total of 1,587 teachers from all parts of the upper peninsula attended the convention held at Escanaba, Mich., concluded Friday night. Sault Ste. Marie was the 1921 convention. E. J. Willman, superintendent of the Gladstone schools, was elected president of the association. Other officers of the association, chosen at the Friday afternoon business meeting, were John F. Mason, of Crystal Falls, elected vice president and Prof. W. H. McClintock, of Marquette Normal, elected treasurer.

S. R. Anderson, commissioner of Marquette county, and C. R. Cobb, superintendent of schools at Bessemer, were elected members of the association's executive committee. Superintendent J. L. Silversale, of Menominee, and Alfred Nicholas, of Dollar Bay, present members, whose terms will not expire until next year, will complete the committee personnel for the coming year.

Gilbert W. Brown, of Marquette Normal, will remain in the office of secretary. Members of the other committees will be appointed by Mr. Willman.

The various district meetings were full of inspiration and help to the large body of teachers present and it has been years since such an array of teaching talent has been brought together in Delta county. Prominent state educators, include State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Johnson, were present and lent the force of their words not only to the general meetings but to the various county institutes.

MIDNIGHT MARAUDER SLAIN BY R. E. HITE TO SAVE PET'S LIFE

H. E. Hite isn't exactly certain, whether or not he has violated the game laws but he is morally, absolutely and most expressly sure that he has slain a robber.

About midnight Sunday he was awakened by a commotion in his chicken coop. A survey of the situation hurriedly made in attire of more or less negligee character, convinced him that the hen house had been invaded by some midnight marauder.

Night watchman Brunette was phoned to come up with his flashlight and have a look. When the light was flashed inside, a large and very heavy, cool was observed in the porch beside Mr. Hite's favorite Dominique rooster. As the cool reached out to forward sendee that rooster, null and void and crowed. Hite, armed with a paint brush with such deadly accuracy that B'ee Coon came hurriedly off his perch and remained in a condition of coma for a time sufficiently long to permit of his being dispatched with a broom stick.

The law may have been violated but if so, it was done in saving the life of a perfectly respectable rooster, who goes home at night and remains in the bosom of his family, until well-regarded citizens think about arising. Besides, the rooster was unarmed and had never been known to attack a coon in his life.

Wild Geese Continue Flight Northward Is Word Given Out Today

Al Lattimer, Louis Damkoehler and Al Lepault went out bird hunting yesterday and returned with a fair day's bag. The important part of their trip, however, is concerned with the fact that they saw a large flock of wild geese which were flying north. The Gladstone men are willing to believe that this presages a continuance of the present fine weather and regard it as somewhat remarkable.

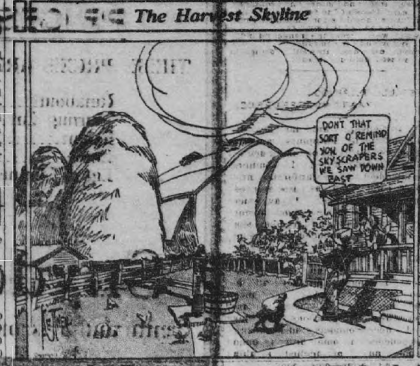

Notice to Patrons.

All accounts for advertising and job work done by the Reporter's office since Tuesday, Oct. 19 are payable to the new management. Through an error in wording his announcement in last Thursday's paper, Mr. Jaeger left the impression that accounts were payable to him after the property had been transferred. It means to say that accounts due to the Reporter up to and including Oct. 19 are payable to him. What he actually said was the opposite. The business was liquidated Tuesday night, Oct. 19 and all transactions since that date are with the new firm.

ABOUT THE WEATHER

Data is furnished by the local office of the Weather Bureau at Escanaba. The forecast for tonight and Tuesday probably shows warmer tomorrow. Comparisons for the past few weeks.

| | |
|----------|-------|
| High | Low |
| Friday | 57 57 |
| Saturday | 57 41 |
| Sunday | 57 41 |
| Monday | 58 37 |

SUPT. WILLMAN GOING TO STATE TEACHERS MEET IN GRAND RAPIDS

Supt. E. J. Willman of the local schools, who was recently elected President of the Upper Peninsula Educational Association, will leave next Wednesday morning for Grand Rapids where he will attend a meeting of the state teachers' association as a representative of the upper peninsula organization. The state meeting will continue for two days, Thursday and Friday and it will be the first opportunity all members of the state organization have had to meet with the representative of Cleveland.

An important meeting of the "Old Welfare" Club will be held at the afternoon of 3 o'clock this evening. It is desired that all members of the club who can conveniently do so, be present as matters of much import to the society are to be discussed.

TO REVISIT OLD HOME AFTER FORTY YEARS

Ben Blodgett and his son "Edward" left yesterday for Bangor, Me. where Mr. Blodgett will revisit some of the haunts of his boyhood days. "Dad" has not been back to the old home place for 40 years and naturally he expects it will be greatly changed. Although he has quite a number of relatives still residing there, he feels that many of the "old boys" whom he has known for 40 years and naturally he expects it will be greatly changed. Although he has quite a number of relatives still residing there, he feels that many of the "old boys" whom he has known for 40 years and naturally he expects it will be greatly changed.

STATE POLICE HAVE BIG YEAR

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS STATE TROOPERS HAVE PERFORMED VARIED SERVICES IN ENFORCING LAW

WORK HAS GROWN GREATLY

A revelation of the great scope of the work of the Michigan State Police is given in the report recently made by Major Robert E. Marsh, commandant, to Governor Sleeper. This shows that the troopers on patrol and special assignments have travelled an aggregate of 297,974 miles during the twelve months and visited more than 22,000 towns and villages.

The money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

While the money expended for the maintenance of this force is not entirely left out; it is estimated by the fact that the fines collected to state and county courts in cases brought by the State Police amounted to $99,476.80 and in the federal courts to $12,818.40.

RIZAL, FILIPINO MARTYR, WROTE REMARKABLE POEM

By FORMER CONGRESSMAN CLYDE H. TAVENNER

DR. JOSE RIZAL, The Filipino Patriot

Every year June 19 is celebrated by Filipinos as the anniversary of the birthday of the Filipino martyr, Dr. Jose Rizal, regarded as the greatest hero on the Malay race last produced.

Rizal, who spoke seven languages and was a cultured and most traveled man (on one occasion he traveled across the United States), earned the respect of Spanish governors in the Philippines by protesting against the oppression of the Filipino people. As a boy he had witnessed scenes that sent shivers of grief later his post mortem and he was dedicated his life to the liberation of his "land adored."

At the risk of his life and at the sacrifice of his career, friends and loved ones he became the apostle for the stifled grievances of the voiceless multitude, and thus became "the living indictment of Spain's wretched colonial system."

Rizal could have saved his life, as he had been warned by friends not to return to the islands. He should not be dissuaded, but before returning to Manila left a letter with a friend in Hongkong to be opened after his death, which he wrote: "I wish to go to expose myself to peril, not as any exhibition of heroism (for in this matter I believe myself guilty of envy), but to complete my work and to die for duty and his principles. I had laid to every idea which I have advanced as to the condition and future of our country, and that willfully did end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

While Rizal was in Europe working for Philippine reform, the Spanish governor-general, to indirectly punish Rizal, carried on a relentless persecution of his parents and relatives in the Philippines, driving them into exile. To his parents Rizal left a second letter, saying: "Should fate go against me, you will understand that I shall do the best I can, but my duty will end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

While Rizal was in Europe working for Philippine reform, the Spanish governor-general, to indirectly punish Rizal, carried on a relentless persecution of his parents and relatives in the Philippines, driving them into exile. To his parents Rizal left a second letter, saying: "Should fate go against me, you will understand that I shall do the best I can, but my duty will end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

While Rizal was in Europe working for Philippine reform, the Spanish governor-general, to indirectly punish Rizal, carried on a relentless persecution of his parents and relatives in the Philippines, driving them into exile. To his parents Rizal left a second letter, saying: "Should fate go against me, you will understand that I shall do the best I can, but my duty will end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

While Rizal was in Europe working for Philippine reform, the Spanish governor-general, to indirectly punish Rizal, carried on a relentless persecution of his parents and relatives in the Philippines, driving them into exile. To his parents Rizal left a second letter, saying: "Should fate go against me, you will understand that I shall do the best I can, but my duty will end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

While Rizal was in Europe working for Philippine reform, the Spanish governor-general, to indirectly punish Rizal, carried on a relentless persecution of his parents and relatives in the Philippines, driving them into exile. To his parents Rizal left a second letter, saying: "Should fate go against me, you will understand that I shall do the best I can, but my duty will end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

While Rizal was in Europe working for Philippine reform, the Spanish governor-general, to indirectly punish Rizal, carried on a relentless persecution of his parents and relatives in the Philippines, driving them into exile. To his parents Rizal left a second letter, saying: "Should fate go against me, you will understand that I shall do the best I can, but my duty will end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

CHILD FATALLY BURNED AT PLAY WITH BONFIRE

TRAGEDY FOLLOWS TODDLING STEPS OF A LITTLE 65-MONTH OLD CANABA GIRL

Burning out of the doorway in a playful manner to the back yard little Lucille, three year old daughter of L. Larch, Ninth street, was fatally burned about the face and head when she fell leading into a bonfire which was burning in the back yard.

The little girl's mother left the home for a few minutes going to see a neighbor. Believing the child was all right in the home she planned on returning in a very few minutes. She was summoned back by the screams of her daughter and the shouts of neighbors who saw the accident.

The little girl was picked up, taken to the house and a physician summoned. She was then hurried to the doctor's office where medical aid was rendered. After the most intense suffering, the child passed away early Saturday morning. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon and were largely attended by sympathetic friends who banded go out to the stricken mother.

The father died two years ago of typhoid and since the child has been a charge on the widowed mother.

Five representative sugar beet growers, appointed last week at a meeting of growers from 25 counties raised together by the state farm bureau, are wrestling with the problem of how to dispose of their 1929 crop at a price which will give them a profit over the cost of production, according to the state farm bureau.

Those five men are A. C. Smith of Clair county; L. H. Kirland, Monroe county; Clarence O'Neil, Bay county; Thomas Price, Saginaw county; and C. E. Harrod, Chatham county.

Sugar beet growers claim that the time is ripe for offering a crop contract to everyone of the 12,000 growers in the state. They say the growers are so sick of the present marketing situation that they are willing to bind themselves by contract to let the state organization do their best, selling for them after the California plan. With out such a plan they say the sugar beet crop in Michigan will grow less and less. With it they say the history of sugar beet raising in Michigan will be the same as that of fruit raising in California; crop contracting with forfeiture for breaking the contract will increase the production several times and place the industry on a safe business basis. If the manufacturers understand the benefits of such a system, the sugar beet men, contend, they will offer their assistance in perfecting such an organization.

Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—A warrant charging him with murder of Walter C. Drewes, Dartmouth college senior, was issued by the state farm bureau.

COLLEGE YOUTH SOUGHT AS SLAYER OF SENIOR

Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—A warrant charging him with murder of Walter C. Drewes, Dartmouth college senior, was issued by the state farm bureau.

found for William H. Brines, University of Pennsylvania freshman, by the district attorney's office tonight. Brines, according to the police, is the owner of the yellow motor car stained with blood and containing an automatic pistol and two empty bottles found abandoned today about a mile from the place where Drewes' body was found Sunday morning.

Dr. D. D. Stewart DENTIST

Office Over The Star Grocery Office Hours 9 to 12 A. M. 1 to 5 P. M. Evenings by Appointment. Phone 28

DR. WILLIAM ELLIOTT DENTIST

Office over Erickson Store, Escanaba

DR. A. L. LAING M. D. C. M. PRACTICE CONFINED TO SURGERY AND DISEASES OF WOMEN

Office at LaSalle Hospital, 86 South Mary St., Escanaba, Mich. Office hours from 9 to 12 a. m., except by appointment.

DR. F. W. STELLWAGEN DENTIST

Office hours from 9 to 12 a. m. from 1 to 5 p. m. Delta Ave. and Ninth St. over H. W. Mickwell's Hardware store.

TIRE REPAIRING BY EXPERTS

Your worn or injured tire will receive skilled attention in our shop and its life will be lengthened. We will cure it according to methods that we learned in the Goodyear School of Tire Repairing at Akron, Ohio.

All material that we put into your tires will be the best—Goodyear Repair Material. Bring in Your Worn Tires. There may be mileage in them. If there is we will see that you get it. We do not accept repair unless they can be repaired successfully.

S. Kjellander & Son Phone 210

BUY YOUR FORD CAR

IN GLADSTONE Come in and Order Now

We are prepared to extend the usual EFFICIENT FORD SERVICE at all times. PRICES EFFECTIVE NOW

Table with 2 columns: Car Model and Price. Runabout $526.00, Touring Car $573.00, Sedan $869.00, Coupe $817.00, Light Commercial Car $694.00.

Full Line of Accessories and Repairs. Snyder Auto Co. Tenth and Wisconsin Gladstone Mich.

NO LEGISLATORS DEBATE IN ENGLISH

The English language recently was used for the first time in the debates of the Filipino House of Representatives.

The fact was recalled to the United States Insular Affairs Bureau. The principal speakers were Honorable Benito de Guzman and Virata. These members are graduates from the University of the Philippines.

SAYS ALL FILIPINOS WANT INDEPENDENCE

"It is frequently said that only the politicians in the Philippines want independence, but I do not think such is the case," said Dr. M. Gaudin, superintendent of the California Anti-Slavery League, who has just returned from the Philippines.

"I have met all classes of people from various parts of the islands and all alike seem to me to desire independence. I am inclined to think that they think of the ability to govern themselves. We are developing a social and political confidence in America and they will develop one there; and I very much doubt that they will learn as fast under present conditions as they would under complete independence. Independence in some form is bound to come and I am inclined to think that it had better come soon."

POLICE EXTINGUISH FIRES

M. A. Corey of Gaylord has written to the State Police thanking them profusely for their patrol and guard services during the recent forest fires in that region. It was largely through the efforts of the State Police that many fires were extinguished, any one of which might have proven disastrous. A patrol through the district daily keeping a sharp lookout for new fires.

RAPID RIVER

That iron ore exists in paying quantities near the old mill site belonging to the Rapid River Land and Power company up on the Whitefish river is the contention of Ed. Dansey, one of the old timers here who has been away from here for a great many years and who came over from Flat Rock where he now resides and spent the week in company with a number of members of the company.

Mr. Dansey is one of the oldest settlers of this township and at one time owned a considerable acreage in this vicinity including what is now known as Dansey Point just south of the Soo Line depot. In those early days over a half a century ago he was familiar with every description and had traveled over practically every foot of wilderness in the entire township. In his early ramblings he came upon strong indications of ore deposits at the spot in question but said nothing about it until he came here last week. He knows something of the conditions and formations under which iron ore may be found and this week imparted to stock holders of the Land and Power company the information which he had kept to himself for a good many years.

Though he had not visited the spot where he said ore could be found in over forty years Mr. Dansey contended that he could go right to the place without difficulty and accordingly he and a number of members of the company did a little exploring one day this week and came to the point that had lingered in his memory and where he maintains the outcroppings of a large deposit of ore exists.

Though none of the men who accompanied Mr. Dansey are posted in the matter, they are inclined to have considerable faith in his judgment and it is the present plan to hold a meeting of the stockholders and go into the matter more thoroughly with a possible view to making exhaustive investigations to determine whether or not a large deposit of iron ore exists in the territory.

That ore exists there, there is no doubt, the only question being as to whether or not there is a sufficient quantity to justify the expenditure of money to develop the property. Messrs. Buchman, Nelson Westling and William Bellard are the men who accompanied Mr. Dansey on the expedition and are of the opinion that conditions at least justify extensive investigations.

Those who are in a position to know or at least form a well founded opinion, assert that continuation of the iron veins from the iron ore regions further north extend to the bay or lake shore all through this section and that being the case it is no unlikely that valuable deposits are located in the vicinity mentioned.

From present indications the local high school will develop one of the strongest basket ball teams this year that has ever maintained the honor of the school in athletics.

Supt. Wolfe is a basket ball enthusiast and began helping the boys with their plans as soon as school started and already they have in several weeks out-of-doors practice that will stand them in good stead when the indoor practice commences along about the second week in November.

The boys have the armory engaged for three nights a week during November and the superintendent will assist them in their practice work. Correspondence has already started with a view to arranging their entire schedule of games for the winter and the team will know in advance just what games they have to play as well as the time and place of each game.

There is some exceptionally good material in the high school for the team this year and the players all have the advantage of having played with the juniors and some of them with the seniors last year.

All things considered there is a strong probability that the team this year will be superior to any of the teams of the past.

Joseph Simon now has quite a collection of animals which he has captured in the past few months and instead of slaughtering for fur and bounty is keeping in a state of captivity, possibly in the hopes that nature will take its course.

He has all told two badgers and three fox that while not yet thoroughly domesticated, at least are becoming more and more contented in their new surroundings and growing more accustomed to Joe's attentions. The badgers are more suspicious than the fox and appear ready to start a rumpus any time their keeper attempts to talk matters over with them while the fox are friendly enough though somewhat shy when Joe brings in any visitors to look at the pets. When asked what he intended to do with the animals, Joe stated that he would sell them if he received an offer that appealed to him, otherwise he would keep them and see if he could raise a few more.

The potato harvest is running well with expectations. The crop is well matured and of excellent quality as a whole. There is considerable cash here and there of the field run that will go to market as U. S. grade No. 1 will probably be only about 40 per cent. The average per acre will approximate well over 150 bushels per acre.

Interesting Items of News from Upper Bay Village and Neighborhood. Taken from L. R. Messenger's Newspaper.

Unknown parties out headlighting for deer last Friday night in the vicinity of Duane's spur in the Cedar section mistook a pair of eyes and while they were a few feet from the deer, mistook it for a person and were somewhat surprised to realize upon their game to find that they had killed a deer, or rather wounded it so it had to be killed, instead of a deer.

The animal was a two-year old belonging to DeLore Duane which had strayed away from the pasture and got in the vicinity of some one's headlight trail. No one has any well founded suspicion as to who made the mistake but the feeling runs high in that settlement against headlighters, particularly those who work so close to farm homes that stock is continually being killed by mistake.

This is not the first instance in the past few months by any means and settlers are thinking of organizing to catch the violators.

Theodore Tessler passed away at his home at Masonville last Monday after an illness covering a period of many years, death being finally due to old age.

He had been a resident of Masonville township for a great many years and for the past number of years had been steadily confined to his bed. He was 89 years of age and is survived by his wife and four children.

Funeral services were conducted from the Congregational church in this city Tuesday and the remains were laid away in the village cemetery. Rev. Barnall conducted the services.

Poles were set last week between town and the Whitefish settlement and within a few days the wire will be strung and work started on the electric wiring of homes at Whitefish when the residents of that district will be supplied with electric lights.

The move is a result of an agreement between the people of Whitefish and the light company whereby the former pay a certain "entrance" fee to meet at least a portion of the cost of construction of the line after which patrons will receive practically the same service at the same rate as the town people.

It costs money to grow sugar beets. This is the report of the committee appointed by the farm bureau local. The committee made individual reports. The cost according to the three experienced growers is from $109 to $124 per acre. The returns at present prices not figuring the returns from the improved condition of the soil and the feed contained in the tops will run rather less than $100 per acre. It may then be said that the farmer in a good year gets paid for his labor under very favorable conditions and no more. The farmers are holding their decisions to refuse to contract for beets for the coming year until reports are available from other beet growing sections. Mr. Patison attended the meeting and discussed some of the problems now having the attention of the farmers.

The manager of the local shipping association was called to Whitney last Monday evening to assist in the organization of the farmers of that section. A contract was agreed upon by which the farmers of Whitney will affiliate with the Bark River Association. Mr. Greenwood was elected manager of the Whitney and Peonville branch.

The new building of the Carlson Garage Co. is being hurried to completion and the boys expect to house their business there before the snow flies.

John Lindquist is selling his farm at Wilson this week. This is a choice tract of land of forty acres. Consideration is $2,300.

Put on your coat and bonnet and come in to the sale tomorrow (Saturday). Everybody will be there.

Mrs. John Fisher and children are spending the week at the Dr. Treiber home.

Theodore Larson and wife are the parents of son born to them Wednesday Oct. 20th.

Dr. Treiber and family were among those invited to join in a partidge banquet given by the Menominee County Business men's club at Wilson last evening.

Mrs. Joseph Rheumo visited at Oshkosh and Appleton during the week. The Bayle family visited Sunday at Florence, Wisconsin.

Roy Bergman spent Wednesday in Escanaba.

Gust Dahl and Henry Flynn have taken charge of the boat landing at Shaffer for the Menominee Sugar Company.

Sylvester Fahy of St. James Minnesota visited his home folks at Park River.

Miss Helen Flynn has taken a position at the Leader.

Mrs. Wm. Flynn, Sr. and son Wm. Jr. returned home from a stay in Escanaba.

Archie Dubord, Michael Kane and Ernest Lallemeur left Tuesday for Sidaun to work.

W. L. DeBelanger is the new postmaster at Shaffer to succeed Ernest Laviolette.

Chas. Miller and Otto Lindquist made a trip by motorcycle to Manistiquist last week.

Rev. Fr. Geers was a recent visitor to the Soo.

HARDING—THE EDITOR

Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for President, is thoroughly familiar with the imposing stone and can "make-up" rapidly and skillfully. Here he is shown "making-up" forms in the composing room of his newspaper, the Maroon (O.) Star.

A DAY WITH SENATOR HARDING

Calm, Steady, Determined, the American Who Is Leading the Republican Party to Victory Goes About the Business of the Campaign in His Modest Office in Marion.

By WILLIAM HOSTER

The American people will decide, of course. If they can visualize the vital principle which is at stake—the spirit which is at once the keystone and the masonry of the campaign upon which the nation has entered, there can be no doubt of the result.

It isn't a thing that can be carried over the country, and exhibited from the rear end of a Pullman car. It is wholly apart from the red fire, blaring horns and stumpy oratory of so-called campaign. The issue, in short, goes deep down to that principle which is the masonry of the national life since the days of Lexington and Concord; and the patriotic citizen, Republican and Democrat alike, by taking counsel with himself, will find it imbedded in his own heart.

Here in Marion, O., you get a concrete exposition of that vital principle. It is good to come to Marion and get the true perspective. You are brought anew, here, to the realization that the country is in process of electing a chief executive to guide the destinies of 120,000,000 people for the four years ensuing from March 4 next; that the very serious business of bringing about what a European observer described as "a revolution by due process of law," is going forward with a proper regard for the dignity and importance of the task.

Scene Entirely Appropriate.

Your first impression is of the fitness of Marion as the scene for the enactment of such a chapter in American history. It is a quiet little country town, for all its boasted industrial activity; and when you approach the Harding residence, one among many in its simplicity and attractiveness, you feel it is quite in keeping with events that from this typical American home the country sends a modest, dignified and capable, up-standing American upon whom the choice of his fellow citizens should fall to uphold the honor and traditions of the nation. This conviction grows when you meet the man. He is typical of the successful business man—of the hundreds of thousands of successful Americans who have accumulated a competence through the ordinary channels which are open to all hard working, straightforward American boys.

Meet him, now. He has established an office in the home of George Christian, Jr., his secretary, which adjoins the Harding house—and this is typical; chief and secretary live side by side, each owning his own modest home. And by the way, these executive offices are illuminating as to the kind of a man it is whom the Republican party has made its standard bearer in this epoch-making campaign. Every room in the house is given over to the business in hand—the senator's conference room is the Christian dining room, his private office, where the important conferences are held, is the kitchen. In the living room sits Christian. Elsewhere, from cellar to garret, the staff are at work. No shouting, no disorder, no hectic shouting at the top of one's voice, no running around in circles, pounding of the fist, no harrying, no shouting, no denunciations of the other side, and loud boastings of the way the opposition candidate is to be beaten into a pulp. Just a thoughtful, careful, business-like transaction of the business in hand—precisely the way in which we like to think the work of 120,000,000 people will be conducted at the White House after March 4.

Step into the dining room and meet the senator. Just at the minute he is reading proof on editorials which are to be printed in his newspaper, the Maroon "Star," in the afternoon. The senator stands for everything that is printed in the "Star," and is careful to read what goes into its columns before the paper goes to press. (Depending on the proof sheet, he shakes hands cordially with you, and you are at liberty to sit him up.)

Mark him Dependable.

He is somewhat above the average, of course, because he has already been singled out by the people of Ohio to represent them in the senate. But aside from this: You are at once struck by his balance and his poise. You mark him as dependable—safe. There is that in his face, on his brow, which gives assurance that he is not the sort of a man who will speak without thinking, or act without deliberating. There is reserve force in his bearing, determination in his jaw, character in his mouth, kindly sympathy in his eyes.

As you listen to him talk here in the Christian dining room, or later, in a speech to a visiting delegation from the front porch of his home, his conviction is strengthened. He doesn't say anything in his office that he wouldn't say out on the porch, nor anything on the porch that he wouldn't adhere to in all sincerity in his office.

The thing that strikes you at all times—it is the very atmosphere of Marion—is his moderation, his restraint—the absence of all bombast and exaggeration in his statements, the careful presentation of the issues, the avoidance of all attempt to array one class against the other, the coyness of the desire, if called to the presidency, to be president of all the people; and, without making any high-sounding promises, to give all of the people the best that is in him.

Avoids Personal Controversy.

Particularly noticeable is his avoidance of personal controversy. Not once since his nomination has Harding referred in a public speech to his opponent. He adheres to the issue. Not once has he permitted himself to indulge in personal denunciation of his rival.

He is sane. He has fired convictions as to the moderation and balance which should characterize candidates for the high office of the presidency; departure from which he believes, without doing any good to the candidate who offends, does serve to bring American institutions into contempt.

During the war there was a Harding in the rough of the sea, but for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea. But for twenty-three hours straight-away, he held fast to the tiller, and he didn't relinquish it until he had guided the boat "steadily" now and then to the rowers; or "hold fast; take her head on!" as the boat rose on the crest of a giant wave, and then plunged straight down into the trough of the sea

THE DELTA COUNTY REPORTER and THE GLADSTONE DELTA. ISSUED SEMI-WEEKLY.

Published every Monday and Thursday evening at the Reporter Building, 214 1/2 S. Gladstone, Michigan. AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER. Official Paper of the City of Gladstone.

Subscription Rates: By carrier or by mail, 25c per month or $2.50 a year. Subscribers getting irregular delivery are requested to notify the office at once so matter can be remedied.

TELEPHONE NO. 43-W.

Foreign Advance Representatives THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION. Entered at the post-office at Gladstone, Mich., as second class matter, MONDAY EVENING, OCT. 25, 1929.

LET'S THINK MORE

A recent military funeral in Gladstone brought out the fact that human nature is prone to forgetfulness. As the American clock was carried past the most prominent corner of the city 200 spectators stood along the streets and not a head was bared.

This was not lack of respect for the flag, merely lack of thought. Had just one person bared his head as the flag passed, every other man in the crowd would undoubtedly have done likewise. With the approach of Armistice day it would seem fitting that we begin thinking a little more about the flag. During the war patriotism was at its zenith. It became the custom to drape the flag on automobiles in every position and sometimes unwisely, it was allowed to trail in the dust from the rear. This practice to a certain extent has surprised us. We have seen the flag on every hand and have become accustomed to it that we forget our duty when it is displayed on some special occasion, as recently.

The American flag is the symbol of the nation. Every other tangible form which our nationality takes may change, but the flag connects the past with the present and is the spirit of the present projected into the future. The flag is to be taken of the national sacrament. It is the visible presence of that for which men have given themselves in the past and that for which men will undoubtedly give themselves in the future.

We have, as Americans, no other thing tangible in form, and substance and color which represents the traditions, ideals, aspirations, deeds, hopes, and promises of the nation.

Americans always have felt the extraordinary appeal to their emotions which the flag makes. As an unconscious people we seldom find a real way of expressing our emotions, and in this nation, building itself up from diverse breeds and making one of them, all expression is necessary.

The salute to the flag has taught the civilian who sees it and expects him to parade, a ceremonial respect which performed, gives him the feeling that he has yielded properly to an innate but struggling emotion which needed expression.

The flag which we know, represents the highest ideals and principles, the highest emotion and the greatest altruism ever expressed in national form. It is the symbol of our common inspiration and purpose, the token of our common life and spirituality. That is the tradition of the flag, the particular symbol of American nationality, the general symbol of human freedom.

The human freedom is what the men of American Legion fought for. Let us not fall in our duty to these men and this flag.

GLADSTONE IS HONORED

It is with particular pride that Gladstone residents contemplate the selection of Supt. E. J. Willman of the Gladstone schools, as President of the Upper Peninsula Educational Association, an honor which was conferred upon him last Friday, and one which came entirely unsought by him and widely in recognition of his successful work. Gladstone residents long have known that the man who has directed the activities of the local schools for 13 years, was a man of extraordinary capacity for handling the problems peculiar to communities of this size and kind, and all Gladstone will rejoice in the knowledge that Mr. Willman's ability has been so fittingly recognized by the educators of this section of the state.

Modest and unassuming, Mr. Willman has fought out his own problems with a success which attracted the favorable attention of men in educational lines all over this section of the peninsula. Gradually it became known throughout the farther reaches of the peninsula that down at Gladstone there was a particularly able man at the head of the school system. His work has not only been beneficial locally but his influence has been made manifest in recent years in the educational plans worked out by the association. His few and suggestions have ever found favor and now he has been given a greater opportunity to apply his practical thinking in the conduct of his work on a much larger scale than heretofore has been possible. The Reporter extends its most sincere congratulations to Mr. Willman and to the people of Gladstone who are so peculiarly fortunate in having such an able executive at the head of the local school system.

Thanks Brother

More encouraging words and kindly wishes come to the new manager of the Delta County Reporter, from a former employer and associate of both the new man. The Escanaba Daily Mirror makes us blush, as follows:

"A notice appearing in the Gladstone paper brings information to Escanaba people that two young and prominent newspaper men of this county have entered business on their own accord and will strive to give the city of Gladstone a better publication than it ever has had.

"Mr. Ush, who will act as business and editorial head of the newspaper, is a man well adapted to the task which lies before him. He has been on the different Escanaba Dailies and with ability coupled with progressiveness and efficiency, his end of the new enterprise should be a success. "Mr. Krause who is well known in all sections of Delta county, leaves the Morning Press, a company with which he has been identified for several years. He is a mechanical superintendent of high standing and a man able to take care of the "back room" end of the new business to perfection. "All other newspapers of the county join in offering expressions of hope and success for the two young men."

STATE POLICE PROVE THAT "MOONSHINE" IS DANGEROUS

ANALYSIS SHOWS WHISKY MADE BY AMATEUR DISTILLERS IS LIKELY TO CAUSE DEATH.

One thing which the activities of the vigilant troopers of Michigan State Police have demonstrated beyond a doubt is that self-poisoning is a luxury in this State. Analyses of the potent spirits seized in many raids are conclusively showing that the great majority of the "moonshine" whisky made and sold in Michigan is highly poisonous. And yet its vendors obtain for this vile and deleterious concoction heavy prices.

In raising moonshiners and destroying illicit stills, the State Police have not only enforced the law as to prohibition but they have enforced that against murder.

In raising moonshiners and destroying illicit stills, the State Police have not only enforced the law as to prohibition but they have enforced that against murder.

The service of the State Police in this respect is a life-saving service, even though it may win curses instead of credit from the persons whose health and even lives would be preserved if they were allowed to secure the raw, poisonous spirits which they crave.

FENVILLE BURGLARS ARE CAUGHT

Two burglars who entered a store at Fennville and were looting it were cornered by Trooper J. P. Clinton of the State Police on the roof of the building and placed under arrest. They gave their names as Thomas Woodcock, of Fennville, and Earl Bodor, a farm hand living near Fennville.

SCHOOL DAYS

THE INNOCENTS NOW Mr. Rat was rather young and he did not know that he should look well around before he ran out of his home under the barn door in the daytime. And Mr. Puppy was also young and he did not know that when he saw a rat he should not begin to bark and jump about.

One morning when Mr. Puppy was asleep on the floor of the barn near the door he happened to open one eye suddenly, and there in the corner of the barn was Mr. Young Rat, nibbling corn. Up jumped Mr. Puppy and barked, jumping about on his little legs as though he were standing on hot coals.

Mr. Rat stopped nibbling and ran back of a barrel, where he peeked out, but when he saw it was not the big dog he began to run around the barn. Mr. Puppy at first only barked, then he decided it was something to play with and around the barn he ran. Over the barrels and over logs of grain they went. Mr. Rat always far ahead of Mr. Puppy, and just as he came to the door Mr. Rat ran out in the yard.

After him went Mr. Puppy. Across the yard they ran. Under the gate went Mr. Rat, and under went Mr. Puppy, and down the road they ran until they came to the woods and there Mr. Puppy lost him.

"Oh, dear, I am all out of breath," said Mr. Puppy, and down he dropped and went to sleep in the sun by a big rock.

When Mr. Rat found out no one was chasing him he ran out from under a bush and looked around. "Tired him out," laughed Mr. Rat when he saw Mr. Puppy asleep.

So off he ran for home, and when he reached the barn there was Mr. Young Rat's mother, and he had just time to slip into his hole before she caught him.

Mr. Young Rat got a good scolding from his mother when he tumbled into the house for letting Mrs. Dog see where he had been, and Mr. Puppy was well scolded by his mother for barking and playing when he should have caught Mr. Rat.

The next day when Mr. Young Rat peeked his nose out just to take a look around, Mr. Puppy spied him. "Come out here and let me catch you," he said.

"Oh, you can't keep awake long enough to catch me," said Mr. Young Rat, jumping back in his house. "I saw you sleeping by the rock when I ran home."

"You never will see me asleep again," said Mr. Puppy, jumping at the tip of Mr. Rat's nose, which he missed.

"We are going to move," called Mr. Rat from inside his house, and though Mr. Puppy watched and ran around the barn and scratched to get under the door, he never saw Mr. Young Rat again, for that night when it was dark he went with his mother, ran down the road to a barn where there were no dogs and he expected he lived to be a very old Mr. Rat.

(Copyright.)

NOTE: All members of the Mercier Post, the American Legion of Naima are requested to get their uniforms in condition for Armistice day, Nov. 11th.

Signed, RUSSELL A. MCCLINCHY, Commander. The communication arrived too late for publication in the issue of last week and we are glad to publish it this week.

Seasonable Dishes. These who are fond of peppers will enjoy this dish: Stuff Rice, Onions in Green Peppers. Cut a slice from the stem or pointed end of the pepper, whichever will furnish the best receptacle for filling. Then boiling salted water over the peppers, cover and let cook three or four minutes. Remove and set into a serving dish suitable for the oven. For six peppers prepare one and one-half cups of cream sauce, half a cupful of rice cooked tender, and three onions boiled tender. Cut the onion into bits and mix with about one-third of the white sauce. Fill the peppers with alternate layers of the cream sauce and the rice. Cover each with buttered cracker crumbs and place in the oven until brown. Turn the rest of the cream sauce around the peppers and bake at once.

Cottage Cheese Sandwiches. Spread whole wheat bread with butter, then with a layer of seasoned cottage cheese and a lettuce leaf dipped in salad dressing.

Walnut Pie. Prepare an ordinary custard pie and before putting into the oven sprinkle over the top one-half cupful of black walnut meats, finely minced. Bake as usual.

Here's May well (By Mrs. W. W. Weaver, Newspaper Union)

Every person mentally and physically able to do so should take the American Red Cross instruction in First Aid Treatment. It's a life-saver and in the factory, pain-killer on the farm, in the office, in the home, wherever accidents may occur. Here's a young wife who instantly widened a cut-scraper and received an ugly gash across her wrist from the jagged can lid. Mother was there, however, with the First Aid kit and Red Cross instruction, and probably prevented a case of blood poisoning by giving prompt and proper treatment before the doctor arrived.

Most laxatives and cathartics afford only temporary relief and should be used only for that purpose. When you want permanent relief take Chamberlain's Tablets and be careful to observe the directions with each package. These tablets not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

Constipation. Most laxatives and cathartics afford only temporary relief and should be used only for that purpose. When you want permanent relief take Chamberlain's Tablets and be careful to observe the directions with each package. These tablets not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

Constipation. Most laxatives and cathartics afford only temporary relief and should be used only for that purpose. When you want permanent relief take Chamberlain's Tablets and be careful to observe the directions with each package. These tablets not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

STANDS OFF A LOT OF DOCTOR BILLS. Recommends Pe-ri-na for Catarrh of the Stomach, Colon and Grip. I have used Pe-ri-na for several years and can heartily recommend it for the treatment of indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea, rheumatism or other troubles due to the catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane. All call for Pe-ri-na as the successful treatment. The health building, strength restoring qualities of this well known remedy are especially marked after a protracted sickness, the grip or Spanish flu. PE-RI-NA is justly proud of its record of fifty years as health protector for the whole family. TABLETS OR LIQUID SOLD EVERYWHERE

Six More Days of the OCTOBER SALE. Six days of special selling that make it well worth your time spent in buying here. The store is full of merchandise priced, in many instances, below cost of manufacture. These new items will be appreciated by buyers who know real worth. Shop daily, it is the right way to keep in touch with the market. Women's Hose at a Saving—These two specially priced lots of hose for women bring them back to the pre-war days. They are both decided values. Women's Black Cotton Hose, dress weight. Double heels, double toes and double soles, wide hem top, our six day price, per pair 25c. Women's Mercerized Hose, of sheer lisle, in a rich black dye. This double heel and double sole stocking is a 75c value for 59c.

MUSLINS HAVE TAKEN A DROP. While bleached cotton will never be back to the old pre-war prices, they have taken a heavy drop for spring. In these items you will find the spring prices quoted months ahead. 55c Bleached Sheeting 33c. This price on a very fine 36 in. sheeting means a heavy loss to us, but a big saving of 22c a yard to you. It is a bargain but we have only enough for about two days selling. $1.25 Wide Sheeting 89c. This is the very finest two and one quarter yard wide sheeting that is made. It is of extra quality and means a saving to you of 36c on each yard.

Special Selling of Women's Shoes $6.45 pr. Clearance of women's black, brown and gray lace shoes and oxfords. Some of the shoes in this lot were made to sell at $10 and over. Come in and try them on, you will find many good values that are worth while. SID GOLDSEIN IN GLADSTONE MICH.

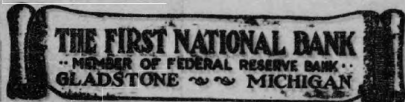

The Only National Bank in Gladstone

I Paid That Bill Once

Yes, perhaps you did—but, how are you going to PROVE IT? Can you find your receipt? Probably not.

If you had paid it by CHECK you could easily turn to your checkbook and PROVE the bill had been paid.

That's ONE REASON why you ought to open a Checking Account in this bank today.

1929-30 Public Improvement bond, $500,000.00; Water and Light bonds, $125,000.00.

Yours very truly, E. M. JOHNSON, City Treas.

Moved by Alderman Clark, supported by Alderman Gordon, that the interest on the above bonds be paid.

Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Alderman Clark, supported by Alderman Gordon, that the dues for League of Michigan Municipalities for fiscal year July 1, 1929 to July 1, 1931, amounting to $10.00 be paid.

Motion carried unanimously.

To the Hon. Mayor and City Council, Gentlemen: I have finished the addition to the fire hall and jail and would respectfully request that the balance due me on the contract amounting to $385.90 be paid.

Yours very truly, NELSON J. GORLISEN.

Moved by Alderman Gordon, supported by Alderman Tostenzon, that Mr. Gorman be paid $385.90 balance due on said contract.

Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Alderman Clark, supported by Alderman Gordon, that George Nebel be paid $4,457.00 on the Dakota avenue sewer between Eleventh and Twelfth street.

Motion carried unanimously.

Alderman Buck offered the following resolution, and moved its adoption, which was supported by Alderman Smith.

Resolved, that the following named persons be appointed members of the election board to be held Tuesday November 2, 1929.

1st ward—John C. Young, Henry Gable, Nels Hansen, Robert Nebel, 2nd ward—C. Hawkins, C. A. Clark, John M. Flood, Floyd Marble, Soren Johnson, M. M. Buck.

3rd ward—Ed Gordon, W. J. Micka, H. E. Hite, Myron Lezz, Geo. Casey.

4th ward—G. P. Tostenzon, August Olson, J. H. Murphy, W. A. Narracott, L. P. Rawson.

Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Alderman Clark, supported by Alderman Tostenzon, that A. E. Fitzpatrick be given permission to connect to the 8th street sewer, until the three permits for sewer to be extended.

Motion carried unanimously.

Alderman Smith offered the following resolution, and moved its adoption, which was supported by Alderman Clark.

Whereas, Rupert C. Ostrander, has resigned as Alderman of the Fourth Ward, and it is necessary to elect a successor.

Now Therefore, Be It Resolved, that a special election be held in the Fourth ward at the Fourth ward polling place, on November 2nd, 1929, between the hours of 7 o'clock a. m. and five o'clock p. m. and that the clerk give due notice thereof.

Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Alderman Clark, supported by Alderman Buck, that the matter regarding the cleaning alley be referred until the next meeting of the council.

Motion carried unanimously.

Relative to the side walk leading to S. Goronski, being in bad condition and should be reconstructed or fixed up at once was taken up and discussed. No objections, the same was referred to the street committee, and have the street commissioner look after same at once.

Committee on claims and accounts, made the report:

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. C. Fitzpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. B. Arley motored to Maple Ridge Sunday spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. G. Weingartner.

Mrs. Frank Kegel and two grandchildren and Frank Kegel Jr. left Saturday morning for a visit with relatives and friends at Chilton, Wisconsin.

The Misses Katharine Bennett, Helen O'Keefe and Nellie Mulvey who were guests of the former's brother, Rev. O. J. Bennett during the institute returned to their home in Marquette Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weingartner returned Saturday to their home in Rock.

The Pettit family motored to Garden in their sedan last Sunday. Brothers who was driving was crowded into the ditch but no damage was done nor anyone hurt. A car coming along helped them out.

Dr. Geo. Bjorkman returned Friday morning from a short business trip to St. Paul.

Alberta Pettit spent the week-end visiting friends in Nahma.

Mrs. Fred Ackley and family are visiting in Whitefish.

Mrs. M. Squance, mother of Mrs. Skellenger returned from Flat Rock, where she has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Orton.

H. J. Krueger, plumbing and heating, Phone 398.

Byron Hawkins was off duty a couple of days last week due to illness.

Mrs. F. J. Orton of Flat Rock (Lower) Michigan is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Skellenger, Eighth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and daughter Alma of Schaffer visited with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hachinson yesterday.

Miss Fannie Weber of M'gillville following resolution, and moved its adoption, which was supported by Alderman Smith.

Whereas, the construction of a sewer in Dakota Avenue between eleventh street and Twelfth street has not been completed according to plans and specifications now on file at the office of the City Clerk, pursuant to resolution passed August 25, 1919.

Now therefore, Be It Resolved, that the total cost of said improvement be fixed as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Item, Amount. Total $1,691.00. Resolved further that the price of such construction of sewer to be furnished by the city, to be fixed at the sum of $439.48 and resolved further that the sum of $1,251.52 be assessed according to benefit against front lots and owners of said property described in the resolution of the city council passed August 4, 1919.

Resolved further, that the city certify the foregoing amount to the city assessor to be assessed by him according to the provisions of the resolution last mentioned and of the resolutions relating to this assessment.

Motion carried unanimously.

Moved by Alderman Clark, supported by Alderman Gordon, that a council adjourn.

Motion carried unanimously.

ARTHUR L. WILLIAMSON, City Clerk

The World's Most

Nevertheless it is a Rese

Mayen Volcano, new quiet, clean lives and destroyed much property and most interesting lands in the world.

Mount Mayen, in the province of Rhineland, is the most beautiful view of the world.

The setting of the volcano has a view to a height of 7,043 feet (2,147 meters) for more than 90 miles. Its reflections from the illumination most productive and picturesque world.

A magnificent peak, 1200 ft high, passing through the most active volcano. It has destroyed 100 in 1814, when 1,200 fruit trees and a city of 1000 people were destroyed. Since then it has been very active.

Motion carried unanimously.

Are You Patronizing The HOME BANK?

or are you entrusting your money to a bank somewhere else, with no more knowledge of that bank than can be obtained from its skeletonized financial statement?

Know the Men You Are Banking With. Our officers and directors are known to you and your friends as responsible men.

They are accessible—"get-at-able"—when you wish to talk things over with them. Character counts as much as capital. Why not bank where you are sure of both?

Wherever you bank it, your money will be used. Why not bank it where it will be used safely and for the upbuilding and improvement of the home town and community.

Gladstone State Savings Bank

Under Both STATE and U. S. GOVERNMENT Supervision. OLDEST, LARGEST and STURDIEST.

DOUBLE PROTECTION FOR YOUR FUNDS

CAPITAL, SURPLUS AND PROFITS, $1,000,000.00. RESOURCES OVER $1,200,000.00. I. N. BUSHONG, Pres. G. J. SLINING, Vice-Pres. W. W. GASSER, Cashier

Want Column

Lost—Solid gold ring set with large amber stone. Finder return to this office and receive reward. 21.

For Sale—Good logging horse held for $225. One team for hire. Archie Boudah, Box 146 Rapid River. 21.

For Sale—6 room cottage, eight room house. Inquire Ida M. Forsyth, mornings, Phone 123.

For Sale—5 room house on 113 Tenth street. Inquire at 1902 Wincanton Ave.

For Sale—Hard coal heater. Cheap. Inquire at Schwab's Plumbing Shop.

FOR SALE—Maxwell Touring car. In fine running condition. Fully equipped. Electric lights and starter, new Goodall battery. Spot light, Check, Tool box. Two spare tires etc. H. W. Blackwell. 21.

FOR SALE—Typewriter, Peninsular range, heating stoves and other household furniture. Call at 523 Dakota avenue.

Only a Cold. Are you ill? Often answered: "Oh! it's only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.

A Good Cough Medicine for Children. Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Redon, Ga. phoned to J. M. Floyd, the merchant there, for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said she had bought a bottle of it at his store recently and it was doing her children so much good that she wanted to keep up the treatment. You will find nothing better for coughs and colds in children or for yourself. It keeps the cough loose, expectoration easy and soon frees the system from the cold.

Be a Crank On Coffee

You might as well, for it's easy to have coffee that has Flavor—smooth and rich Aroma—fragrant and appetizing Strength—with no hint of rankness

Just ask for Chase & Sanborn "Seal Brand"

THE COLUMBIA RECORDS

for November, are now on sale.

45 new selections this month

ESTENSON'S

Corner Tenth and Delta Gladstone, Mich. "The little shop with the big record stock"

Mr. and Mrs. George Webb of Duluth are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Shining.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Scott of Marquette motored down yesterday and spent the day with friends.

Peter Farrell of Federal Dam, Minn is visiting at the Sillers home in this city.

16 inch hardwood for sale, $3.75 per single cord, of $3.00 for full cord. Dry sixteen inch hemlock wood, $4.00 per cord. C. W. Davis, phone 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Jachor and daughter Olive went to Manistique Thursday accompanying Mr. Jachor's mother and sister home, returning to this city that same night.

Mrs. Jas. Larson has returned from a visit at Relexon.

Mrs. M. Bonz of Masonville and Miss Della Randall visited in Escanaba.

Mr. John Schmitt of Ninth street will be an Escanaba caller Tuesday for a few hours on business.

Ernest Wilbur of Seattle, Washington is visiting at the Neel home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Noel motored to Bark River yesterday with Edward Notraw.

Edward Lacombe Funeral Is to Be Held Tuesday

Funeral services for the late Edward Lacombe will be held at the school chapel of All Saints parish, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. It had been previously arranged that services be held this morning, but due to the unavoidable absence of Rev. Fr. O. J. Bennett, who was called to Marquette Saturday night, the postponement was made necessary. Interment will be made in Fernwood cemetery.

Funeral Held Friday

Deeply impressive funeral services were held Friday afternoon for the late Mrs. William McDonald. A short service was held from the home at 2 o'clock and from the Presbyterian church at 2:30 Rev. C. Bates officiating. The funeral was very largely attended by a wide circle of friends who paid their last respects. The floral offerings were most profuse and very beautiful which marked the esteem in which Mrs. McDonald was held. The friends and relatives from out of town who attended the funeral are: Roy Drading of Indianapolis, Melvin Druing of Nahma, John McDonald and Mrs. J. Roe of Sault Ste. Marie, Peter and David McDonald and Mrs. Fred McDonald of Ludvard, Mrs. Elizabeth Houghton, George and Steven Houghton of Gilchrist, Miss Cora Curtis of Dafer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krull and son Irving of Black Creek, Wis., and Frank Krull of Appleton, Wis.

When you get up with a bad taste in your mouth, a dull tired feeling, no rush for food and are constipated, you may know 2:30 Rev. C. Bates officiating. The funeral was very largely attended by a wide circle of friends who paid their last respects. The floral offerings were most profuse and very beautiful which marked the esteem in which Mrs. McDonald was held.

Yellow Men Sleep

By Jeremy
Lane

Illustrated by IRWIN MYERS

(Copyright by the Century Co.)

(Continued from last issue)

"He has been my father," said a soft voice.

"I will not hurt him; this seems wonderfully new to him; he has had the world try it first."

Word came that the party were ready at the gate. The bandage chest was carried out. Con left his strange enemy lying upon the rug deep in ghastly slumber.

The miners were finding their own voices, peering in new freedom like unquarantined children, before the muzzled was cold in his blood. From the higher windows and balconies of the palace came shrill screams. Twenty canals were laden.

"Where is my father?" Con asked the Arab, who sought out the men who had carried the hammock. Only one of these could be found. He pointed back along the road. Helen saw the posture and insisted on going with Levintion. The entire caravan was started out at the gate, for the riders could not be sighted. Certain of the dwarfs were aware of their debt to the white man whose was departing, and these raised a shout as the caravan passed under the fortification. Instantly the gates were closed and a barricade begun on the inside.

Con Left His Strange Enemy Lying Upon the Rug.

"What have you not told me?" insisted the girl.

"It will be all right," he answered. "Tell me."

"He has remained behind." "Tell me!" she cried. They found him near the rock that marked Eihim's grave. He was motionless in the morning sun, stretched face downward upon the sand that had once been a garden. Con leapt down and ran to him. There was no response. An insect walked across March's cheek. The deep-gray eyelids were firmly closed. He was quite dead.

Helen stood there, then knelt. She closed her eyes, but did not weep. Her hand went to his shoulder, but the touch frightened her. Levintion who bowed with the loss of his comrade, the man who had shown him how to live.

"You need not go," said Con. "They are both there," she said slowly.

"Shall I take you back to the gates? For a long minute she remained motionless, kneeling, and the others of the party showed increasing agitation, with much staring off seaward. Helen raised her hand.

"I am ill," she whispered. "Take me away, far."

He lifted her to his feet. A runner had been sent back to the city with word. The hammock would come again, and March's body be given final attentions.

"It is useless to remain," she said. "Take me away."

The other woman of the party, an ancient sister to Fu Ah, came to her princess and sobbed in the wonderful intoned speech of Asia. She placed a large motherly arm about the shocked and endered Helen, and with Con helped her up into the saddle. Haste was imperative. It was Helen's own choice.

Levintion gave the word. The guide took orders from old Fu Ah, who rode high up, his wrinkled and scarred visage further complicated by the present twists of fortune. He had no near-cent independent of his white princess. For the sake of speed, the sister, who was somewhat heavy, was separately mounted. Helen rode alone, as did Levintion. The wind was in their faces.

Levintion looked back once, shuddering, across the rich low plain, to the strange towering city, now but a tawny Babel in the hands of its conquerors, and he bowed from the carriage to his destiny away, all splendor and quiet cruelty ended. The very walls seemed pale now.

The white tent was silent with a grandeur of pain, a beauty that was anguish. White-hot sun pelted through his garments. Flying sand stung his cheeks' familiar. Silence here was bowed in silent agony. It seemed that the fierce, vengeful hands of the miners pulled at his heart.

Each one, seen vanishing him of the world, the ancient, mysterious city showed for an instant like a faded rose, and then the glaring heat blotted it out.

CHAPTER XVI.

Helen's Ordeal.

Helen, in her great heaviness of heart, stared down at nothing. Fu Ah gave up the task, and she continued enemy lying upon the rug deep in ghastly slumber. The miners were finding their own voices, peering in new freedom like unquarantined children, before the muzzled was cold in his blood. From the higher windows and balconies of the palace came shrill screams. Twenty canals were laden.

"Where is my father?" Con asked the Arab, who sought out the men who had carried the hammock. Only one of these could be found. He pointed back along the road. Helen saw the posture and insisted on going with Levintion. The entire caravan was started out at the gate, for the riders could not be sighted. Certain of the dwarfs were aware of their debt to the white man whose was departing, and these raised a shout as the caravan passed under the fortification. Instantly the gates were closed and a barricade begun on the inside.

"What have you not told me?" insisted the girl.

"It will be all right," he answered. "Tell me."

"He has remained behind." "Tell me!" she cried. They found him near the rock that marked Eihim's grave. He was motionless in the morning sun, stretched face downward upon the sand that had once been a garden. Con leapt down and ran to him. There was no response. An insect walked across March's cheek. The deep-gray eyelids were firmly closed. He was quite dead.

Helen stood there, then knelt. She closed her eyes, but did not weep. Her hand went to his shoulder, but the touch frightened her. Levintion who bowed with the loss of his comrade, the man who had shown him how to live.

"You need not go," said Con. "They are both there," she said slowly.

"Shall I take you back to the gates? For a long minute she remained motionless, kneeling, and the others of the party showed increasing agitation, with much staring off seaward. Helen raised her hand.

"I am ill," she whispered. "Take me away, far."

He lifted her to his feet. A runner had been sent back to the city with word. The hammock would come again, and March's body be given final attentions.

"It is useless to remain," she said. "Take me away."

The other woman of the party, an ancient sister to Fu Ah, came to her princess and sobbed in the wonderful intoned speech of Asia. She placed a large motherly arm about the shocked and endered Helen, and with Con helped her up into the saddle. Haste was imperative. It was Helen's own choice.

Levintion gave the word. The guide took orders from old Fu Ah, who rode high up, his wrinkled and scarred visage further complicated by the present twists of fortune. He had no

Water was touched to her forehead. She opened her eyes.

"Has it been so much? Shall we wait here, or turn back?"

She shook her head, slight, and turned away from him. Fu Ah was flitting about with the tea-chests, and the broad Fans, with more weight than wisdom, was silently weeping as he bathed Helen's brow. Con's hands she bathed the pillow, and started away, but the princess turned to him again quickly.

"I am not sending you away," she said.

"Tell me what I can do," he begged. She raised her hand from the cushion, and he helped her to sit up. Then she smiled in his face.

"I thank you," she murmured. "It is nothing."

"Will you try some tea and a rice cake?" he asked, regarding the offering in Fansa's untidy hands. The tea was fragrant as rain in spring, and the little cake was studded with raisins. Helen sipped her tea.

"You're not eating the cake," he objected. "You will not be able to travel tonight."

"Yes, I shall. We must not remain here. We must go northward."

"You do not regret coming?" "I would not return," she replied. Something in the way she said it left him greatly dissatisfied. "I did not see little Bear when we left," she added.

"He did me a rare turn."

"He had only schemes, everywhere, but myself—and you."

She looked toward the northern horizon reflectively, and a subtle expression went over her face. "I have never been safe," she said.

"That left him helpless. She sighed gently as her new sorrow came again. For the moment he saw her as a child. Then she regained control of her emotions, and said with some brightness: "Chee Ming would not believe that you had come to my room."

"Yes, He had never had a will rise against him as did yours. He was greatly puzzled. He feared no one in the world but you."

"That began in America, when I had the advantage."

"You had wisdom to send the riders away. The trick was beyond him."

"You managed that," said Levintion. She seemed rather chagrined, and began for the first time to observe her surroundings, all strange. Again, the word to proceed came from the princess herself.

Little by little she left the past behind, and she said to him: He rejected anew to find that he was not excluded.

"I do not wonder we had so few visitors," she said.

"Your world is rather hard to reach."

The deep rhythm of the desert embraced the party. Sunrise and sunset were pulses in the day-beat. Leagues of dry wilderness, sterile plains, fell away behind them. Fu Ah found time to shave his white master every day. There was abundance of tea, dried fruit, water, candied melon, and smoked meat in the pouches. The beasts grew lean and smoky-eyed, but as yet requiring no urging. Low hills were never so low when they were reached. The world was changing.

"Did I harm come to Prince Yek-toi?" asked Helen one fiery morning.

"I believe not, unless he went mad with fear."

"He was very dull," she mused.

"They progressed without passing a sign of men, but the country was habitable, the breeze toward evening friendly and cool. Fu Ah seemed to remember now that they could not be far distant from Gughal pass. The coming days proved he was correct. Hills were banking against the north. Hills were broken as a walled river, narrowing. There was water all along, creeks, fountains.

Quite suddenly in the sky ahead, between brown hills, appeared the shining white masses of the mountains, wooded with cloud-leaves beyond.

Chinese and Mongolian slipped down to kneel, and Levintion removed his turban in reverence. He drew a mighty breath, and related. Helen's eyes were starry with wonder.

"The pictures were not enough," she whispered to him. "It is beautiful. You are very good."

She was perfect as silver, and he was obliged to matter to himself his covenant. He felt the pent power that must have brought her to him, but thought it a matter thing to hold silence.

It was the same night that he came near her tent and found Fu Ah bending over her. Con stopped short. The steady motion of the old servant's arms startled him. Fansa was sleeping suddenly. The white man went closer. The Chinese was sniffling Helen's eyelids with a wisp. Instantly Con was upon him. Trembling with anger, he patted him.

"Do not," Helen whispered hoarsely. "He was commanded."

A low-brushing wing of the wind fanned the ecode of hours before and brought a glow that touched the hand of the princess, as she lay within the tent. In a rush of bitterness Levintion knew that he had been blind. Fu Ah was willing, "No koreh, die."

It was too clear to her lover. Long desert passage had worn her to the breaking point. She had been living upon the drug. He thought of her periods of slens, when he had fancied she was grieving or angry, or very weary. Secretly the Chinese had been supplying her, ministering the poison, and it had sustained her. She had been like a flower that will not wilt. He released Fu Ah, stood wordless in her presence a moment longer, then took himself away, confused, miserable, hopeless. He was caught and frightened in the fragrant dew.

When the moon was high, he crept back to her tent.

"Are you sleeping?" he whispered. "Dreaming," she said, and her voice might have been an echo of fairy, "but not sleeping."

"Do you want anything?" "Nothing, my friend."

"But can you get up?" "I am doing my best."

"You are brave; you have shown a miracle of strength; now the effort will bring you sooner or later."

"Do not," Helen whispered hoarsely. "He Was Commanded."

NOTICE

members of the Mercier Post-merican Legion of Naima are requested to get their uniforms in readiness for the parade, Nov. 11th.

RUSSELL A. McCLINCHY
Commander

Communication arrived too late in the issue of last week as we are glad to publish it.

"Do you wish to go on with it?" "No... Yes, I cannot."

"Don't I help you out of it, some how?"

After a pause, she said: "You are very strong."

He forbore because it was a great effort for her to speak. He no longer wondered that she had been content to remain in Tai Kuan for the time woman was asleep, cocooned within the secret chamber of the soul, and ready at last for the dawn. He was near enough to hear her soft breathing, yet the tent-fold was between them.

China's men nerves were in a precarious state. Just here some psychic current caught him away, into the ages, light and his backward into the ages, a vast, irrational experience, and it seemed that he had been outside her tent, somewhere, terribly long ago.

Next John Stark held a window upon the tent, and he knew that it was himself, then as now. "That strange mindless still possessed his veins in the trail of his presence. Camels sniffing in the blue shadows, a faded waterflood, the splendor of wooded hills around, and the immensity of heaven, the light held a moment—or a century?—longer—and a hand was upon his shoulder. Levintion was chilled to the quick. This was Fu Ah, desiring speech in private.

"She must sleep," said the Chinese reverently.

(To Be Continued)

SIX INDICTED IN PACKERS' GRAFT FOUND GUILTY

Chicago, Oct. 23.—All six defendants in the Consumers' Packing company trial were found guilty tonight of fraud. The jury in Federal Judge Evan's court returned the verdict after having been out five hours. There were 18 counts in the indictment, each count carrying a penalty of from one to five years' imprisonment. All the defendants were found guilty on all counts.

Charges were made that the company had sold $200,000 of stock and that portions of the proceeds were used for promotional purposes. Indictments were returned in June 1925.

Kirkpatrick Is Made President Of Local Bank

J. C. Kirkpatrick, well known financier and business man of Escanaba, has been chosen president of the Escanaba National Bank. This action was taken at a meeting of the officers of directors held at the bank offices Monday afternoon. Mr. Kirkpatrick succeeds the late John K. Stark who died several weeks ago, thereby creating a vacancy in the bank staff.

Mr. Stark had been president of the bank since its organization in 1908. He was a successful business man.

The directors of the bank are: J. C. Kirkpatrick, M. N. Smith, C. W. Bates, H. W. Reade, William Bonifas, J. G. Gross, J. K. Stark, Jr., G. M. Marck and G. T. Stephenson.

All matters of business interest were discussed by the directors at the important meeting.

Advertisement for a health product, possibly related to the 'Six More Days of the October Sale'.

Six More Days of the OCTOBER SALE

Six days of special selling that make it well worth your time spent in buying. The store is full of merchandise priced, in many instances, below cost of manufacture. These new items will be appreciated by buyers who know real worth. daily, it is the right way to keep in touch with the market.

Women's Hose at a Saving

These two specially priced lots of hose for women bring back to the pre-war days. They are both decided values.

- Women's Black Cotton Hose, dress weight. Double heels, double toes, double soles, wide hem top, our six day price, per pair 25c
- Women's Mercerized Hose, of sheer lisle, in a rich black dye. This heel and double sole stocking is a 75c value 59c

MUSLINS HAVE TAKEN A DROP

White bleached cotton will never be back to the old pre-war prices, they have taken a heavy spring. In these items you will find the spring prices quoted months ahead.

Bleached Sheetting 33c

This price on a very fine 36 in. sheeting means a heavy loss but a big saving of 22c a yard to you. It is a bargain but we have only enough to two days selling.

25 Wide Sheetting 89c

This is the very finest two and one quarter yard wide sheeting made. It is of extra quality and means a saving to you of 36c on each yard.

Special Selling of Women's Shoes $6.45 pr.

Clearance of women's black, brown and gray lace shoes and oxfords. Some of the shoes in this lot were made to sell at $10 and over. Come in and try them on, you will find many good values that are worth while.

SID GOLDSTEIN GLADSTONE MICH.

SHORT NEWS NOTES

Daily Girls
A daughter was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. H. Wolfe and to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Martin, Thursday, both of the Toledo Address.

Open Office at Back
Dr. Donald Stewart has opened up an office in Maple Ridge where he will receive his patients at that place on Saturday.

Manistique Mistricks
Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jansen and family and Violet Struble returned to Manistique Saturday to witness the Manistique Gladstone game.

Greatly Improved
Mrs. Matt Miller who was taken to St. Francis hospital with an attack of peritonitis was able to return to her home Friday night and is greatly improved.

Return from Hospital
Mrs. August Thornell was undergoing a serious operation at the St. Francis hospital, Eschscholtz returned to her home in this city this afternoon. She is very much improved.

Goos Back in Business
The tobacco and candy business disposed of by Abe Rogers about two months ago to George Butler, has again been taken over by Mr. Rogers, the deal having been closed today.

Men Apply for Citizenship
William John Moore and Robert W. Wilbert of this city applied for their final citizenship papers at the office of County Clerk A. J. Peim at Eschscholtz Thursday.

FINED FOR ASSAULT
A fine and costs amounting to $19.95 was assessed against Arthur Mastage in a local Justice's court last Friday, following his plea of guilty to an assault and battery charge preferred by Arthur Johnson. Mastage was also given a suspended jail sentence.

FALSE ALARM
A false fire alarm called the department in the Eschscholtz fruit store Sunday morning. A chimney stop had blown out and the resulting smoke made it appear that a fire was in progress. The smoke came from another stoppage entering the chimney at another point.

School Head Visiting Here
Mrs. N. E. Chabouss of Muskegon county superintendent of schools of Muskegon county, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Jackson of this city. Mrs. Chabouss was attending the sessions of the Upper Peninsula Educational Association and is one of the lecturers at the institute for teachers of Muskegon county. She will be here the remainder of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Albright and Mr. and Mrs. Tupper motored to Ishpeming Sunday.

Don't Pick Out a Printer
Blindfolded
Get the One Who Can Help You Sell Your Goods.

WE have the ability to help you sell your goods and we can do this at a reasonable cost to you.

Economy and standardization are the watchwords here. We use Hammermill Bond, the standard, economical, business paper and we turn out a grade of printing that brings results for our customers.

LET US SHOW YOU

For Card Writing and Sign Work See Bill Valind

Declares Filipinos All Want Independence

Former Illinois Congressman, Back From Philippines, Gives Interesting Views on Island Affairs.

Clyde H. Tavernier

The 10,000,000 inhabitants of the Philippines are practically unanimous in their desire for independence. This is the strongest impression that I have brought back with me after touring the islands from one end to the other, and after having come in contact with all classes of the people. I found, however, that the viewpoint of Americans in the Philippines, and Americans in the United States, on the subject of independence, is not the same.

The attitude of the American government, and the great mass of the people of the United States, is to consider the Philippine question from the unselfish viewpoint of what is best for the Filipino people. Ninety-five per cent of the American investors in the islands who are quite naturally more interested in the size of their dividends than the freedom of an alien people.

The unfortunate feature of the situation is that the opponents of independence, in order to convince the people of the United States that the Filipinos should not be granted their independence, find it necessary to label an entire race. To tell a sensitive Christian people that they shall not have their promised independence because they are not fit for it will in the end prove a mistaken policy. It will only make their demand for independence the stronger.

At the present time, however, the masses of the Filipino people still have absolute confidence in the good faith of America. Their loyalty and gratitude to Uncle Sam has not as yet been impaired by the misrepresentations of the missionaries. Their leaders are intelligent enough to distinguish between those Americans who oppose their aspirations to independence for purely selfish reasons and the great mass of the American people whom they know desire this government to do by the Filipinos only that which is just and right.

In this connection, it is interesting to review the development of the present friendly relationship between the Filipino and American peoples. Previous to 1913 the Philippine-American relationship is declared to have been not of the best. But with the passage in that year of the Jones law by practically both the Republican and Democratic memberships of Congress, a better feeling developed. This "better feeling" has now grown into a very strong bond of sympathy and affection.

The happy attitude of the Filipino people toward America is due not principally to the fact that Americans have shown the Filipinos how to make their country a better place to live in; not principally to the fact we have reorganized the impeding in the Philippines one of the finest educational systems in the world; nor to the building of high class roads, bridges and public works—but is due

POLICING STATE COSTS $500,000

ESTIMATES OF DEPARTMENTS SHOW INCREASES FOR NEXT TWO YEARS

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 25.—Policing Michigan during the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1923, will require approximately $600,000, more salaries will cost the state nearly $500,000 annually, according to estimates of expenditures filed with State Budget Commissioner Charles R. Fouts. These figures do not include the 100 or more game warden patrolling Michigan forests, but are confined to the departments of food and drug and inspector, state police, labor commissioner and fire warden. Nor do they include the traveling expenses, hotel bills, maintenance of automobiles and other equipment, which amount, in itself, would more than double the estimate for personal services.

$200,000 Budget Forecast
State officials here are disappointed with the plan being successful tried in Illinois, by which departments of related activities have been consolidated and much duplication eliminated. The total cost to operate the state during the last two years was $15,000,000 an annual average of $17,000,000 for the next year.

Not a single estimate received by the budget commissioner gives indication that Michigan's expenses during the next two years will be reduced. Increases sought ranging anywhere from $29,000 to $200,000. Opinion has become general that it will cost more than $20,000,000 to run Michigan during the next year.

In the estimate furnished by the food and drug department, provision is made for 71 inspectors, whose salaries are fixed at $14,500 from $1,000 to $2,000 a year for inspectors. Twenty-five are listed at $1,500, exclusive of expenses.

$70,000 For Fire Patrol
The game warden's department will have 50 fire wardens in addition to the regular five marshals' department. These salaries are paid by the state at the rate of $3, $2.50 and $4. A fund of $70,000 annually will be necessary, it is said in the estimate.

The state labor commissioner asks for 15 inspectors at salaries ranging from $1,400 to $1,500. Fifteen inspectors in this department are listed at the lowest figure.

Twenty-two men will be necessary to enforce the laws of his department, of which 20 men will receive a monthly compensation of $35 exclusive of expenses, while the remaining six will be paid time.

Motor Party
Four cars of motorists from here took advantage of the smattering fall weather and motored up past Treary where the men of the party searched the woods for game and the ladies prepared a sumptuous picnic dinner. The party included Mr. and Mrs. A. Woodhall and family, Mrs. Chas. Olson and Blanche, Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. G. Jackson and family and Mr. and Mrs. A. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Williamson and Dorothy and Otto Haberman. The day was most pleasantly spent, the party returning late in the evening.

Impressive Funeral Service Is Held For Hermansville Citizen

The following notice of the funeral of the father of a local woman has been contributed to the Reporter. One of the most impressive funeral services to be held in the county for several years, was that of the late Simon Lasagne of Hermansville, father of Mrs. Thos. E. Lasagne of this city. Long before the hour of the funeral arrived, the home and church was crowded to the doors, with friends and relatives of the beloved man. The funeral services were most impressive, filling the entire room, showing the high esteem in which Mr. Lasagne was held throughout the township and county. At 9:30 a. m. a solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's church with Rev. Fr. Dillon, of Spaulding, Mich. Rev. Fr. Stump, of Loreto, Mich. and Rev. Fr. Gagne of Hermansville officiating. The funeral cortege a mile in length then wound its way to the family burial plot where the body was laid to rest. During the services the mills and factories as well as other public places, were closed and operations suspended, in respect to this honorable man.

Samuel Lasagne was born in Grafton, Canada April 24, 1857 and was sixty three years of age at the time of his death, due to Diabetes. He married Miss Flora Horn of Stamford, Canada, and came west soon after, locating in Maine and later in Hermansville, where the family has resided for the past twenty six years. Besides his wife Mrs. Lasagne leaves to mourn his loss six children they are, Fred, Earl, Harry, Benjamin, Minn. Mrs. Victoria

Harriet Hermansville, J. Albert Lasagne, Minneapolis, Minn., Mrs. Thos. Lasagne, Gladstone, Mich., Leona and Jane Lasagne, Hermansville. The out-of-town parties who attended the funeral are: Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Jacques, Hersey, Mr. and Mrs. E. Chaudron, Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Ruberg, Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. E. Beauchamp, Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. H. Volant, Miss Mary Paul, Burtan, Miss Pearl LaVillotte, Volant, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lemay, Mrs. Louis Boucher, Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fletcher, Mrs. Will Fletcher, James John Mathias, Oshkosh, Mr. and Mrs. M. McDonough and daughter Marion of Escanaba; J. A. Moizer, Gladstone, Miss Anna Sullivan, Gladstone, Thos. E. Moizer, Gladstone, Thos. J. S. Hatcher, Gladstone, A. J. Lavigne, Minneapolis, J. Joseph, Quinnessee, Mr. and Mrs. C. (Bertrand) Powers, Mrs. Jas. Trepanier, Mrs. Roy Tremaine, Escanaba, Miss Dolores McGee, Gladstone.

NOT THE ONLY ONE

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Gladstone residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question, "How many more?" Gladstone, Mich. Wisconsin Avenue, Gladstone, says "Four years ago, appendicitis left me bedridden with a dull ache in my back and I found it nearly hard to stoop or sit. Every time I would get down I found it hard to get straightened up again. The tired feeling was always with me and I was troubled a lot with indigestion. I bought some black spots which blurred my sight, and my kidneys were so weak that I felt nervous all day long. My kidneys were irritable in the action and I had to get up often at night. I had no more black spots about two weeks ago, besides for the past two years I have been able to sleep six hours at a stretch and my back is all right. I feel like a new man." Gladstone, Mich. Mrs. Victoria McGee, Gladstone, Mich.

A Few Closeouts On Seasonable Goods

By this statement don't get confused with the prevalent idea that hardware is coming down because this is not the case. Quite regularly we put out a line of our goods at special prices in this is just a repetition of it.

20% off on any wares in the store and this brings them down to the best, "go get it bargain" you ever heard of.

For rusty season we offer a good sized can of stove pipe enamel for 15c. New pipe for this small price out to interest most of you.

For the hunter, amateur and practically every housewife ought to have a flashlight and realizing this we marked them way down they can afford to have one.

2 Cell midjet with large reflector $1.10
2 Cell Large reflector nickel plated $1.57
2 Cell Large reflector fibre case $1.57
2 Cell Fibre case $1.25

These specials will occur for only 10 days at the Gladstone Hardware Co. TINNING A SPECIALTY 708 Delta Ave. Phone No. 57-W

We Charge No More for First Class Work Than is Ordinarily Asked for Second Class.

Our purpose is to clean, press and repair your clothes THE NES-LO way which makes our work better than usual. And to charge you no more for this kind of service than perhaps you have been in the habit of paying for unsatisfactory results.

There's a difference we want to show you.

PITT BELLAIRE NES-LO DRY CLEANERS 908 DELTA AVE.

The Result of Our Work may be compared with the work of the finest custom shoe makers, and you will find that our materials and shoemanship are of the very best. Shoes repaired by us look almost as if they were new and wear as well as new ones.

GLADSTONE SHOE HOSPITAL FRED KAEMPF PROP TENTH & MINNEAPOLIS

SPECIAL SALE OF

CORSETS

We are closing out certain lines of corsets in our stock and we are offering them at manufacturer's prices.

You'll find them good models in high and low busts--and in all sizes. All are of good quality coutil and to clean them up, we are offering them at

- $5.00 Corsets $3.45
$4.00 " $2.95
$3.50 " $2.21
$2.50 " $1.59

HENRY ROSENBLUM ECONOMY and SERVICE. Different from Other Stores. Store open Daily from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday's 9:30 p.m.